LO: To identify weather patterns Create a weather diary. Write and draw in it each day to describe the weather. You may want to do this in the afternoon, or before you go to bed! On Friday, look back at your diary for the week. Did the weather change each day? Did it stay the same?	L.O: To identify the months in each season and their characteristics. What events may happen in each season? For this activity create a game called 'Guess the Season', give clues by using events that take place in that season. You could create a board game, question and answers games or any game you wish to create, then play it with someone.	LO: To create a product following the design Last week you designed your own sock sea creature! Use an old sock, some material or anything you can find to make your sea creature come to life! Remember to follow your plan!	LO: To identify the four seasons and weather patterns Draw all of the different types of weather you know! Label each one. Once this is done try and think about when these may occur (e.g. sunny in the summer).	LO: To take responsibility for our own health What can we do to take responsibility for our own health? Keep active Choose to complete one of the following: Kids cosmic Yoga (YouTube) or Joe Wicks workouts (YouTube) Or Help cook a meal
